A Republican paper is defending those who hire substitutes and pay the commutation fee instead of going themselves. Well, they obey the law, and that meets the requirements of the Government; but that does not look so well in those who are entirely satisfied with the way the war is conducted, and who clamor the while for more vigor. They would better sustain their credit by going themselves, and biring a substitute, too, if they were able. If these Republicans are so much in earnest, certainly the Government will not want men. We don't understand that zeal which exhorts everybody to go to war, whilst the exhorter doesn't go'.himself, if he belongs to the militia force of the country. By finding a substitute, or paying the $300, he certainly shows that for some reason he does not want to go to a vigorous prosecution of the war. That is the whole of it. If he belongs to the vigorous presecution party, he looks very inconsistent to other people. He does not want to risk his life or shed his own blood. but desires other people to do it. It is the stay-at-home pairiots who make men who have done their part in fighting ject. We cast no censure upon those who service; but we can't help thinking it strange when we see accounts of vast gatherings of able bodied men, furious to put down the rebellion, that the Government should still want men to fill up the ranks. These enthusiastic gatherings don't hate rebels as much as they love themselves, nor feel half the interest in the Government that they feel in No. 1; otherwise we should not need a conscription law. They will be doing exactly right, in for the right objects, and can fight with a will. They ought to give very good reasons for not going. The world will look for good reasons from such men. Here are 54,000 voters in Maine. Half of them are under forty-five. The Republicans expect an immense army of voters of the same sort in Ohio, who believe that the way of conducting the war is all ex actly right, and its vigorous prosecution in that way a most important duty. Why, then, should the Government be in want of men? There are thousands engaged in this war who hold it a duty to save the Government, whilst they hold the policy of the war effect of victories over the rebels, by shutting acquitted Hone, greatly to the mortification of off opportunities for peace. If these men ex press their opinions, they are pronounced traitors by these stay-at-home patriots, who hire substitutes, or pay $300 for exemption, resolved never to risk their precious persons n the way of the rebels.

Evidences of seditious meetings were referred to a secret committee, who reported that dangerous associations had been formed in different parts of the country. Attempts to seduce the soldiers were made, insurrection plotted, seditious and blasphemous publications were circulated. Three persons-Brandreth, Turner and Ludiaw-were executed. Weightman and twenty-one others were pardoned on condition of transportation.

Repressive measures on the press followed. Lord Sidmouth instructed the lieutenants of counties that the law officers of the Crown were of the opinion that a justice of the peace may issue a warrant to apprehend any person charged on oath with the publication of a blasphemous or seditious libel, and compel him to give bail to answer the charge; and desiring them to communicate this opinion to the magistrates. It would appear that the condition of the country then, if ever, would have justified the action of the Government. If the life of the President in this country were at present threatened, or other officers suspect that an'anxious concern for personal of the Administration, there is little doubt safety is stronger than the zeal to put down what course would be adopted toward any press that encouraged it. now examining the stragglers and finishing up the draft. The result up to Saturday night (12th) was 67 men in camp, ivoluding 52 sub-stitutes; accepted men 191, most of whom will probably pay commutation money, and 179 $100 in money with which the Govern-ment can procure substitutes. If the exempts could have been taken for soldiers, the draft would have amounted to something, but as it is we can't see it. It is rather a small show out of the 2,263 men drawn, and we don't think the Government will care to try the experiment here again. The other districts in New England are also finishing up, and when the grand result is made known it will be an interesting computation how much more each man obtained has cost the Government than h man obtained has cost the Government than he would have done if procured by volunteering.

The whole number of men ordered from Rhode Island was 2,880; and the draft, adding the fifty per cent., was for 4,320. Of all these ranted interference with the judiciary. The drafted men only 1(5 serve. There were 678 substitutes, and all the rest were exempted by of administration or policy, but upon their evidence of money or of incapacity. Those who paid were 442. So the conscription account stands thus:

The State of Vermont has secured only 700 soldiers under the conscription, and all of these, with the exception of about 100, are substitutes.

ADDRESS . It is a well-known fact that there has been n existence for more than two years in the city of Louisville, and almost every other city of the United States, an association called the "Iron Molders' Union," which has now gained such strength that it is making its power felt, and in a manner very injurious to the interest of the public, as also to that of the worthier members of the "Union" itself. Its ostensible purpose, according to the pub-lished Constitution, is, "To elevate the moral, social and intellectual condition of every molder in the country." This is, no doubt, a very laudable object—one which commands the sympathy of all right-thinking men, and no one would aid the association in obtaining such an end more willingly than the emplo little more than one-fourth of the whole number drawn, and two-fifths of the quota required from the district.

In the Sixth District of Massachusetts 2,712 were drafted, which, deducting the fifty percent., was a call for 1,808. The result was:

Physical disability 1,476
Aliens 116
Other exemptions 446
Falled to report 302
Paid commutation 218
Conscripts in person 53

Conscripts in person 53

Section 2 of the same Article does not even permit a foreman, when he has in any way permit a foreman, when he has in any way become interested in the profits of an estab-lishment, to remain in the "Molders' Union." Thus it will be seen that, instead of calling upon the employers to co-operate with their Union in advancing the "moral, social and intellectual condition of every molder." which self-evidently is a matter of common interest, the "Molders' Union even goes so far as to ministed substitutes and of have paid the commutation. In all sixteen conscripts and 356 substitutes have been sent to camp.

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican gives the following account of matters in that quarter:

The board of enrollment in this district is now examining the stragglers and finishing. with the business management of their en ployers proves this to be the leading principle of the association.

The "Molders' Union" has made an at tempt, and thus far a successful one, to dictate to and extort the most unreasonable terms from their employers all over the country-terms which, if submitted to, must eventual-ly prove ruinous to the molders themselves, since it would destroy our whole business. They have undertaken to arbitrarily decide, not only as to what wages must be paid, but even as to the number of apprentices each shop is to employ, the kind and amount of work the laborers in our founderies may or may not be allowed to do, and to prevent any molder from working in a short who is not a member of their Union. These and numerous other equally unreasonable and inadmissable interferences of the 'iron Molders' Union" cannot be submitted to any longer without losing not only our usiness, but our self-respect. Now, therefore, in order to protect ourselves gainst the injurious interferences of the Iron Molders' Union" or any other similar ssociation now existing or that may hereafter be formed, we, the undersigned founderymen and machine builders and employers of other iron workers of Louisville, New Albany and Jeffersonville, have formed a regularly organ-ized association, to be entitled the "Iron Founders' and Machine Builders' Association of the Falls of the Ohio," and do therefore adopt the following as the principles of our organization:

1st. We deny the right of the "Iron Molders' Union," or any other Union, to arbitrarily determine the wages of our employes, regardless of their merits and the value of their services to us, and we are opposed to every com-bination which has for its object the regu-lation of wages, whether it be among the employers for the purpose of keeping down wages among employes for the purpose of forcing wages. We desire the utmost individual both for employers and employes. The demand for and the supply of labor, the merits of each individual workman and the cost of living are the natural causes which should regulate wages. Under the free oper ation of these causes, the skillful and industribus workman can always feel secure of obtaining the highest wages.

2d. We deny the right of the "Iron Molders Union" to determine for us how many apprentices we should employ. According to Article 7, Section 7 of their Constitution, they dictate to their employers that not more than one apprentice shall be employed in each mafoundery, and one to every fifteen mold ers in each stove foundery. This arbitrary in-terference in our business cannot be defended upon any grounds of right and justice. It is an assault upon the individual liberty of the citizen; it is an act against the laws of society or profitableness of any branch of business ald determine the number of persons that shall engage in it, and each citizen ought to be left free to choose for himself. The interests of the whole country may re-The interests of the whole country may require to-day double the number of molders that it required a year ago, but the "Iron Molders' Union," constituting themselves legislators, determine for the whole country how many molders there shall be, independent of the requirements of this branch of industry and thus sacrifice to their own selfishness the

We shall resist by all means, at every sacrifice of time and money means, at every sacrines of time and money, all attempts of any set of men arbitrarily to regulate the supply of labor in any department of trade and business. While we protest against the attempt of the "Molders' Union" to determine the number of apprent ices that shall be employed in each foundery we shall cheerfully co-operate with them in their efforts to thoroughly educate all appreptices and make them masters of their business; and we further protest against every attempt on the part of the "Iron Molders' Union" to prescribe to our em-Molders' Union" to prescribe to our em-ployes what kind of work they shall or shall ot perform. With the general facts of it I presume you are already officially acquainted through the representations of her Majesty's Minister at Washington. In order, however, to remove any erropeous impression which may exist through public report or otherwise, I shall respectfully request yeur lordship's attention to a hrief statement of the outrages to which I, in com-mon with others, have been exposed in the States of Alabama and Tennessee. Explanatory of my being in America, I may here say that in the summer of 1852 I sailed from Glasgow to New York, and subsequently lived seven years in Brooklyn, during which period I remained faithful in my allegiance as a British subject. In 1859 I removed to Montgomery, Alabama, to settle the estate of a deceased brother, and on which I became administrator. It being impossible for me to close up my business in consequence of non-payment of debts, &c., I was under the decessity of remaining. The fact of my being a British subject was very generally known. To prove an official knowl-edge of it, I may state that shortly after gothe trial of a slave, who was subsequ ecuted for killing his master. I declined of the ground of alienage, which excuse was ac cepted by the court. Last February I ested as a conscript in my own house by the arolling officer of the de facto government, and under a strong military force, con-veyed to the guard-house in Monigomery, where I was detained three days and nights and then released. He had them forwarded under guard in chains, with neavy iron collars riveted on their necks. our arrival in Tullahoma we were all put into the guard-house, an abominably fithy den. After being there nearly a week a Confederate officer came in one day to know if we would volunteer. Under the circumstances

On another occasion I saw him held head downward in a tank of at their highest speed to the south bank of water three times, until almost drowned. The punishment of slaves has been inflicted on us with a full knowledge of our nationality in broad daylight, and within a few yards of General Bragg's headquarters, in the presence of at least fifty or a hundred spectators. For refinement of cruelty and Democratic insolence generally, Colonel Strawbridge and his creole commissioned officers of the First Louisiana ocratic insolen stand unrivaled. The de facto government have now assumed the responsibility by a de-cision of their highest court at Mobile, declaring me liable to military service. This trial cost me $4,000, to which must be added $3,000 for a substitute, which was only good for a short time, as I was afterwards notified by the authorities, for six month, service in North Alabama. The numerous readers of Dr. Isaac Watts are of course aware that "bears and lions growl and fight," but now it seems to be also the nature of the tamers and proprietors of those animals who can't "in their little nests those animals who can't "in their little nests arec" but, but the contrary indules in all those animals who can't "in their little nests agree," but, on the contrary, indulge in all sorts of quarrels and law suits. Not many weeks ago we reported one; and new M. Arnaud, who has engaged a company of wild beasts to entertain the Paris public, has brought an action against Mdme. Schmidt for breach of engagement in that she declined. bear. On the part of the lady it was contended to be shut up in a cage with a feroclous white bear. On the part of the lady it was contended that she was engaged to make one of a pariy consisting, with herself, of four lions, two black bears and two hyenas, and had indeed joined that festive circle several timeed joined that festive circle several times, but that she never agreed for a tete-a tete with the white bear, which could not be done at the price (four thousand francs). Plaintiff pleaded that the white bear was so tame that it was difficult even to put her in the nightly rage required to amuse and excite the audience; and that, in fact, the inert beast had to he stirred up with a long and (fact the public) be stirred up with a long and (to the public) invisible pole; he, moreover, stated that Mdme. Schmidt, who was related to the party from whom the bear was hired, knew this, and would not enter the cage in the interest of her relative, whose property would be damaged if the bear's European reputation for ferocity were blemished by an upprotected female being seen in its cage. The judge was of opinion that Mdme. Schmidt was liable for black bears, llogs and hyenas, as per agreement, but that the white bear was a "supplement," and so decreed for the defendant, with costs.

—A curious case of breach of contract, which, however, included a libel, has just been decided in Paris. Mademoiselle S—proceeded against the director of one of the Paris theaters for certain moneys due to her for an engagement as second dansense. The de-fendant pleaded "never indebted," and, as a rider to the plea, stated that the "calves of rider to the plea, stated that the "calves of Mademoiselle's legs were too big for a dansense." The following letter was put in by the counsel for the prosecution, and formed the ground of the action: "My Dear Mademoiselle: You surely are not serious in proposing to appear as second danseuse? Your physical formation, otherwise charming, is tetally opposed to such a career. You may consider your engagement canceled, and yourself free. We have now but to regret a rehearsal which has produced such negative results. Agree, Mademoiselle, to benegative results. Agree, Made lieve the respect with which," &c. On the part of the plaintiff, it was argued that she had made no secret of her legs, which were such as a liberal nature had given to her; that they were, in fact, the stock in trade of a dancer; that objection had been taken by other directors to danseuses "sans mollet," and, finally, that the state of the case was known to the defendant when he made the contract. The defendant offered to refer the matter to an "expert," and named the ballet-master of the Imperial Academy as his referee; but the court held that strong legs were no breach of contract; and gave a verdict, with osts, for the plaintiff. .-A discussion is proceeding in a London literary journal as to whether George Cruik-shank, the artist, originated the idea that even if ghosts did show themselves, it was scarcel possible that the ghosts of their clothes would also appear. As far back as 1849 Cruikshank made and etched and design ridiculing dressed thostship. Fifteen years later, Mr. J. H. WHOLESALE DRY GOODS-HUGHES & PARK-HILL.—Among the various business houses in our city worthy of special mention for its prominence in the trade is the wholesale dry goods house of Messrs. Hughes & Parkhill, on the north side of Main street, between Fifth and Sixth. This firm commenced business about eighteen months ago, when, from the unsettled condition of the country, the trade in dry goods, as well as many other branches of business, was exceedingly limited for a city of our population.

They commenced upon the true system -a cash basis. Purchasing with money and selling only for cash, they are enabled to realize quick profits and ready sales. Thus they are constantly replenishing with the newest styles, and furnishing the great staples of the trade at such rates as always attract a liberal share of custom.

This firm has demonstrated the advantages of the cash system-the double advantage to buyer and seller. The sales of their house run up to such figures as would astonish hundreds in our midst, who can scarcely realize that here in Louisville a single firm deals to the amount of from thirty to forty and fifty thousand dollars per week in dry goods alone; vet such is the fact, and, organized upon the cash basis, such a business is conducted with less than half the trouble of the old-fashioned credit system.

With all its calamities, the war has taught one useful lesson to merchants-that of adhering rigidly to the cash system. Those houses in Louisville which had heretofore conducted their business upon cash and short credit were scarcely disturbed by the great revulsion in trade, while those that had extended liberal credits and furnished goods on long time suffered immense losses and in many instances were obliged to close business alto-

It will be remembered that the old gentleman and an aged lady erfused to take the oath, saying they would die first, and they were sent to the military prison. We suppress exultation at the thought of what yet remains to be done—and the poss-bility of losing all that has been gained by fighting—to complete the work. Situated as Rosecrans is, the victory that does not dis-perse or capture his whole army—if he is per-mitted to hold Chattanooga—ihen our vic-tory will be without profit, and we have only to mourn that so many brave men have died

Rosecrans must not only be beaten in battle but he must be destroyed or driven from East Tennessee, otherwise the battle had as well not been fought. If this stronghold is no not been fought. If this stronghold is not wrenched from him now, it will hardly be hereafter. If he holds it, he will hold a point from which he may at any moment strike at the very vitals of the Confederacy. He holds a region pestilent with disaffection, that not only has the presence of the Yankee army to ripen it into full blown treason, but he holds the country that must supply wheat for our army, nitre for our powder mills and coal and iron for many of our manufacturing establishments.

The posessession of that country is of indis necessity to us. It is the prize for which Bragg is contending; and until he has won it we can but rejoice with fear and trembling over what he has done. Should he win it it will be superbest achievement of New York, September 25.

THE TOBACCO CROP.-The following is an extract of a private letter to a gentleman of this city, in reference to the effect of the frost upon the tobacco crop in the southwestern portion of the State:

EDDYVILLE, KY., Sept. 21, 1863. Dear Sir: * * * We have had two nights 18th and 19th inst.) killing frost. The tobacc in the vicinity south and north of us is greatl maged—some entirely ruined. We learn, wever, that in part of Caldwell, Christian nowever, that in part of Caldwell, Christian and Trigg they have suffered but little. We have had no rain for six weeks, had at best a poor crop, and now, since the frost, will have a very inferior crop. It seems to have done the greatest damage in places where there has been no rain. Last week, before the frost, in Caldwell, Christian and Trigg counties they had fine rains. We think good grades of tobacco should be largely advanced. Not one tobacco should be largely advanced. Not one fourth of our crop was cut before the frost, and much of that fourth on Friday before, and of it much had not properly matured and of course will be poor stuff. Truly yours, ROBT, L. COBB.

From advices received from St. Domin go, it is evident that matters are in a sad state upon the Spanish end of the island. A body of Spanish forces had been badly defeated and sought refuge on Haytian territory. In consequence of a number of Haytiens on the frontier taking part in the struggle, President out several hundred thousand nogroes is probably not without some foundation. THE FRENCH LANGUAGE.

THOSE WHO APPLY THEMSELVES TO THE study of this useful language, rarely acquire any further k. owledge of it than a mere sufficiency to enable them to translate with mere or less ease. A more therough acquaintance with it, such as will enable one to speak and write it, being a his olly desirable accomplishment, an opportunity is offered by Monsleur and Madame D'Ouvile, to the ladies who are desirous of perfecting themselves in this branch of their education, as well as to those who propose simply to begin it. A class f. r this purpose will open on Monday, Se tember 21st, at the residence of Mr. D'Ouville, corner of Wallut and Seventh streets, Lessons to be given three times a week-Mordays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 3 to 5 o'clock P. M. Lessons to gentlemen by Mr. D'Ouville at the same place, and on the same days, from 7 to 9 o'clock P. M. Lessons to private pupils at their own residences, and at such hours as may be agreed upon. MEDICAL DEPARTMENT, UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE.

THE TWENTY SEVENTH ANNUAL SESSION WILL commence on the first MONDAY in October and continue four months. For particulars address p. J. W. EBNON, M. Dean of the Faculty. MR. &. MRS. W. B.
